Dear Sylvan,

Congratulations! Keystone Coating's Lititz and Mifflintown, PA locations have passed the PCI 3000 Certification Maintenance audit. We are proud to recognize organizations like Keystone Coating who, along with the Powder Coating Institute, strive to see improved quality across our industry.

By completing the certification maintenance self-audit process, Keystone Coating has confirmed that the processes and procedures evaluated during the onsite audit, conducted on December 5 & 6, 2017, have been sustained and continued at the level required to maintain PCI 3000 Certification. Your certification is valid through December 2019.

Keystone Coating continues to demonstrate that it understands powder coating is a high-performance painting process that must be maintained and controlled to optimize the performance of the finish. While this certification does not guarantee powder coating process performance, it reflects that Keystone Coating has the capability, processes and competency in place to supply a high-quality powder coated product.
